Short Curriculum Vitae (Speaker/panellist/expert Bio)

Name: Mike Murphy

Title(s): Professor

Affiliation: NHS Blood & Transplant, Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and University of Oxford, UK.

I qualified at St.Bartholomew's Hospital Medical College, University of London in 1973, and became a Senior Lecturer in Haematology at St.Bartholomew's Hospital in 1985. In 1996, I moved to Oxford and in 2004 became Professor of Blood Transfusion Medicine.

My expertise is in hospital transfusion practice. My team developed and implemented an 'end-to-end' electronic (paperless) transfusion process throughout the acute hospitals in Oxfordshire. This work has won several national awards, and is the subject of a Proven Case Study for the NHS Quality, Innovation, Prevention and Productivity (QIPP) initiative. I work as a clinical specialist in haematology, predominantly leading the Oxford hospital transfusion services and managing patients with immune haematological disorders.

I was Secretary of the National Blood Transfusion Committee in England from when it was established in 2001 to 2015. I was a co-founder of the NHS Blood & Transplant (NHSBT)/Medical Research Council Clinical Studies Unit and its Systematic Reviews Initiative for transfusion medicine. I established the National Comparative Audit of Blood Transfusion programme in 2002 as a collaboration between NHSBT and the Royal College of Physicians in 2001 and chaired its Steering Group until 2015.

I have served on numerous Advisory Boards and Committees, and was elected as a Member of the Royal College of Pathologists Council (2005-08). In December 2012, I was appointed as Chair for the NICE Guideline Development Group for Blood Transfusion; the guideline was published in November 2015. I was elected Chair of the BEST Collaborative, an international scientific group, for 2014/18, and was awarded an Honorary Fellowship of the Faculty of Pathology of the Royal College of Physicians, Ireland in 2015. I am current President-elect of AABB.
